

K3 Column Protectors

Upright protection helps prevent damage to the upright supports of your pallet racking from forklifts and other warehouse equipment. It is there to act as a barrier around the uprights. Uprights are the most vulnerable parts of the pallet racking and damage to them can increase your risk of rack collapse. A ding with the forklift to an edge or a corner of your shelving may not seem like a big deal, but it could be the beginning of structural damage to your pallet racks.

Column protectors are a benefit to anyone with pallet racking and forklifts in their facility.
